Information on the STARS

Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. (the "Issuer") has issued Strategic Accelerated Redemption Securities ("STARS") linked to the S&P 500 Index (the "Index"). The STARS were priced at $10 each and mature on March 8, 2010.

The STARS are senior, unsecured debt securities of the Issuer that provide for an automatic call of the securities if the closing level of the Index on any observation date is greater than or equal to the Starting Value of the Index.

If the STARS are called on any observation date, investors will receive a payment of:

- If called in March 2009: $11.0350 per unit;
- If called in September 2009: $11.5525 per unit;
- If called in March 2010: $12.0700 per unit.

If the STARS are not called prior to the maturity date, then at maturity investors will receive:

- (1) If the Ending Index Value is greater than, or equal to the threshold value of 1,242.02, then investors will receive $10 per security; or
- (2) If the Ending Index Value is less than the threshold value of 1,242.02, then investors will receive:

$$$10 + [$10 \times ((\text{Ending Index Value} - \text{Threshold Value}) / \text{Starting Value}) \times 1]$$

The Starting Value of the Index is 1,380.02. The Ending Index Value will be calculated near the maturity date. Please see the prospectus for the STARS for more details.

It is expected that the market value of the STARS will depend substantially on the value of the Index and may be affected by a number of other interrelated factors including, among other things: the general level of interest rates, the volatility of the Index, the time remaining to maturity, the dividend yield of the stocks comprising the Index, and the credit ratings of the Issuer.

The Trustee for the securities is The Bank of New York.
